

The Daily Courant.

Monday, April 5. 1714.

From the Paris Gazette, dated March 31.
Rome, March 3.

THE 26th of last Month a Consistory was held, in which the Pope made a Speech setting forth that he was resolved to confirm the Election of the Emperour, and to make good the Defects that might have been in it; then was read a Bull conformable to that which was published by Urban VIII after the Election of the Emperour Ferdinand III, and it was Signed by all the Cardinals present. Then were read several Briefs which had relation to this Affair; and lastly was read the Indulto for granting the Emperour the Nomination to the first vacant Benefices in all the Churches of Germany; which is called the Right of the Præsentatione. This Consistory lasted near six Hours. The 27th the Pope gave Audience to the Archbishop of Messina, and exhorted him to return to his Church, according to the Permission granted him by the King of Sicily. But at the same time his Holiness gave him new Instructions, for maintaining all the Acts done by the other Bishops, by asserting the Ecclesiastical Immunity, by opposing the Execution of the Sentences of the Tribunal of the Sicilian Monarchy, and by causing the Interdict to be observed. An Extraordinary Congregation of the Immunity has since been held, in which were read a great Number of Letters and Informations from Sicily touching this Matter, by which it appeared that the Contest ran high, and that the Magistrats maintained the Jurisdiction of the Monarchy in Contempt of the Ecclesiastical Censures, which occasioned great Troubles in the Kingdom. It was resolved in this Congregation to assert the Immunity in its full Extent, and to draw up on that Subject new Instructions for the Archbishop of Messina, who the 2d Instant had another long Audience of the Pope, who put those Instructions into his Hands, and exhorted him to repair speedily to Sicily.

From the Paris Gazette, dated April 7.

Rome, March 13. The Archbishop of Messina set out from hence some Days ago, to embark at Porto, but he is stopped there by the stormy Weather. 'Tis hoped his Presence will contribute to the terminating the Differences touching the Ecclesiastical Immunity, the more because the King of Sicily has written to him to exhort him to return to his Church, and acquainted him that the Judge of the Monarchy who revived the Acts of Jurisdiction which were practiced for above 200 Years, particularly under Ferdinand the Catholic, Charles V and his Successors, in Maintenance of the Rights of the Sicilian Monarchy, is no longer in Office. In the mean while, as this Court demands that the Censures fulminated against him, and the Sentences of Interdict denounced by some Bishops should be acknowledged and executed, and the Pope refusing to give Audience to a Minister sent to negotiate an Accommodation, we are still in uncertainty as to the Issue of this Affair.

From the Paris Gazette, dated March 31.

Paris, March 31. The 29th being holy Thursday, his Majesty accompanied by the Duke of Berry, the Duke of Orleans, and by the Princes and Lords, went to the great Hall of the Guards, where the Abbot d'Argentré the King's Almoner pronounced the Sermon on the Lord's Supper, after which the Cardinal de Rohan gave the Absolution. His Majesty washed the Feet of Twelve poor Men. The Dishes served up to those poor Men, were brought in and placed on the Table by the Dauphin, the Duke of Berry, the Duke of Orleans, the Count de Charolois, the Prince of Conti, the Prince of Dombes, the Count of Eu, the Count of Toulouse, and the King's Maistres d'Hotel, the Duke of Bourbon great Master of the King's Household being at their Head. Thence his Majesty went to the Chappel, and heard high Mass sung to Musick.

Hague, April 6. Letters from Copenhagen relate, that General Count Steinbock having obtained Leave from his Danish Majesty to send a gain to Schonen his Adjutant Colonel Slippenbach about his private Affairs, the said Colonel went to take his Passage from Elsinore, where a Captain who was upon the Guard observing that the Cane or Walking Stick which he wore was much thicker than ordinary, he suspected something, and upon search found the Stick bored hollow and filled with Letters to the Regency, which discover divers Secrets of Importance. 'Twas said Count Steinbock had bored the Stick with his own Hands, and that 'twas not the first time he had made use of that Device for the like Purposes: And a Merchant who was attempting to pass over to Sweden, having since been seized with Letters of Consequence from the said Count about him, it had been thought fit to order the Count not to stir out of his own Lodgings, and to keep a strict Eye upon him: 'Twas said he will be confined at Soor in Zealand, for having made ill use of the Distinction and Liberty with which his Danish Majesty had favoured him.

'Tis advised from Hambourg the 30th of March, that the Duke Administrator had sent his Counsellor M. Haagen to Stockholm, to desire the Senate to be pleased to send the young Duke of Holstein to Germany, and to advise him to go first to the Court of Berlin; alledging that this might contribute very much to dispose the Czar to interest himself for the Restoration of that Prince, when he shall see that the Regency of Sweden have not the intire Management and Disposal of his Person. But the Senate would not consent to it.

We have Letters from Paris which tell us, that 'twas reported the King would come thither to see the magnificent Altar in the Cathedral of Notre Dame, which was but lately finished, tho' ordered to be erected by Lewis XIII, who left a Fund purposely for that Structure. The King is reconciled to the Cardinal de Noailles Archbishop of Paris, and his Majesty is determined not to concern himself any further with the Pope's Bull, contenting himself with having caused it to be registered. The Marquis de Torcy, Secretary of State, having lately sent for M. Cronstholm Envoy of Sweden, declared to him by the King's Order, that his most Christian Majesty cannot otherwise assist Sweden than by his good Officers in the Negotiations of Peace, and that he would be glad that Crown would enter into Treaty for obtaining Peace. These Letters add, that 'twas confidently reported a Treaty of Commerce is agreed between France and the Czar; by Virtue of which the French may send yearly four Ships directly to Russia with Merchandize, and bring back Goods of the Product of that Country.
